“ David was my grandfather, and he was a damn good one. Of all the amazing memories I could share about him, one stands out in particular. One Christmas many years ago he gave me and my brothers something like five dollars, but the catch was, it was in nickel's. He told me, "life is all about the small things." I took for granted his wisdom, and looking back on every small moment we shared together. I can say with confidence he was absolutely right. I wouldn't trade anything in the world for the nickel's he gave me. Not a single thing. I was so lucky to have him in my life, he inspired me to be the very best I could be, and he was always there for me and my family, he was the only member outside of my nuclear family that lived in Bend. I always had someone and that's what I loved most about him. Writing this fills me with joy, I don't sit down and really think about how much he meant to me, not enough anyways. I would give anything to hear his hearty laugh, or smile through his either really intellectually complex jokes, or his simple corny ones. I loved him so much, and I know I am posting this late, but I think I found this website at the exact time I was supposed to, because I could really use his help right now, and his memory and lessons he gifted to me, those will guide me until the end of my days when I join him in the sky. His hug on that day, that will be a hug to behold.

“ Am so sorry to hear of David's passing. We were classmates in Alabama and attended the Saint Clair County High School together, we graduated in 1965. We rode the same school bus for several years. I remember David as being a very kind friend. May God bless all of his family . I was looking for old school mates to see if we could all get together. I'm sorry for your loss. He was a good friend.
