“ I am heartbroken to hear of Jerry's passing. I am not good at keeping in touch. I called a couple of times since I last saw him and Rosalind, but did not get through. I was thinking about him today, his birthday. He was always a good friend. He was appropriate and expected others to be appropriate and do the right thing as well. He was kind, thoughtful, energetic and had a great sense of humor. I remember his laugh. He was an older brother to me. When I was in the process of getting married he told my future husband, that he had better do right by me or he would have to answer to him. Jerry helped me tremendously when I first arrived at the Guidance Clinic. I remember how happy he was when his boys were born and how much he enjoyed his grandchildren and appreciated and loved Rosalind. He enriched my life. My condolences to the family.

“ I had the pleasure of meeting and spending a very lovely evening with Jerry when I did work for Rosalind in Alameda and we all went to dinner. Sis, I am so sorry for your loss. When you are up to it, perhaps you would consider visiting me on the Gulf Coast of FL where we now have a home. I have lots of Italian hugs for you.

“ Jerry was a good and special person whom together with his wife Rosalind we were privileged to call our friends. The four of us met after disembarking from a flight from Kona, Hawaii. Jerry and I hit it off immediately, recognizing in each other a kindred spirit. Jerry loved people had an intellectual curiosity and interest in exploring new and challenging experiences. Which regularly resulted in interesting travel destinations and an ever expanding inclusive circle of good friends. Jerry gave of himself unselfishly to his family, friends and community, all of whom will miss him dearly. Although the span of our friendship was far too short it will always be treasured. For this good spirit and soul touched our lives. David and Rosemary walton
