“ It was because of Bobs willingness and ability to engage with all parties with water interests and explore creative solutions that made the possibilities of water restoration a reality in the Deschutes basin. You will be sorely missed.

“ We lost a true Master, not just of water, but of how to live a beautiful life. That example is still thriving.

“ I was saddened to see the notice in the newspaper today about Bob. Though I retired well over a year ago, I remember him vividly as I worked with him for over 5 years while I was the Finance Director at Deschutes River Conservancy. His wonderful common sense, his intelligence and humor combined with his great experience and kindness to all of us around him was remarkable. I regret not knowing he was sick as I would have loved to look into his eyes and tell him how much I cared about him. I trust he is reading this and smiling back right now. I dont have a lot of vivid faces that come into my memory but his is so vivid. Thank you Bob for all you did for all of us. Thank you for living a good life. Tamara Weaver

“ Auntie Liz, Karen, Mike, Eric, Julie, and kids. Our deepest sympathies from Guam. I so wish that we lived closer, but please know that no matter how far we are you guys are always close in our thoughts and hearts. I will forever cherish all the great adventures that Uncle Bob always took us on when we visited. I know that Tony and Tony Boy really enjoyed the nature lessons about Oregon each time we would visit. Much love, Jill, Tony, Tony Boy, and Maria
