“ I was happy to have known Ron Marceau. When I passed the bar, he invited me to fly with him on the firms plane to the swearing in ceremony as he was going also. He was always like that, bestowing kindness on struggling new attorneys and others. In later years, he joked that he had me on retainer for his speeding tickets, which he somehow managed to accumulate from time to time. It amazed me because when I saw him driving it was sort of in a grandfatherly way. One day, I bumped into him downtown as he was getting into his car. He said he was on his way up to COCC for some postgraduate work. Turned out he had to take an aggressive driver class! He was smart, funny and kind. I am saddened by his passing.

“ Ron was one of the most colorful and interesting persons I ever have and ever will know. He was a brilliant lawyer and his sound advice as Bends City Attorney for nearly 40 years will never be equaled. Ron saved this City millions over his tenure by keeping the City out of many potential issues during this Citys explosive growth over the decades he served. I was honored to be Rons Law partner for many years and even more honored to call him a friend. Ron will be greatly missed by all those who really knew him. Martin

“ My thoughts are with Rons family through this tough time. I also wanted all to know that Ron was such a great mentor to me over the years, especially during the hectic super-growth years at the City of Bend. I still have a note that describes a method for problem solving that has been on my office wall since 1990. He had a great sense of humor and wonderful ways to size up every situation down to the nitty gritty. The bow tie was a trademark as well as his long dedication to this community. One particular memory is a black and white photo of Ron playing basketball with Vince Genna. Ron was in his trademark suit and bow tie doing a lay-up. Perfect. Deborah McMahan

“ My thoughts are with you, Beth. Ron was beloved by so many people in Bend and many share in your loss. Rons dedication to the City of Bend and his many years of sage counsel and advice will long be remembered. He was a huge part of the successful growth of Bend, including a well-reasoned, stable approach to problem solving. On top of that, he was funny, loyal, principled, and unwavering. He will be missed.
